OUR DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION

Chairman Howbert's Letter to the State Committee.

WHO WILL GO TO ST. LOUIS?

The Full Meeting of the State Committee to be Postponed Until After the Presidential Nominations are Made in June.

The following letter has been addressed by the chairman of the Republican State Central committee: Mr. Irving Howbert, to all the members of the committee:

To the Members of the Republican State Central Committee:

You doubtless understand that it will be necessary to have a State convention soon for the purpose of selecting delegates from this State to the national Republican convention to be held in St. Louis, June 16, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States. The preliminary work of the State central committee is simply to apportion the delegates among the various counties for the State convention, and fix the time and place of holding the same, and to prepare and publish a call therefor.

The State convention must be held at least 30 days prior to June 16, and the call must be made and published at least 20 days before the holding of the State convention.

I am advised that it has been heretofore the general custom in presidential years to call the whole committee together as preliminary to calling the State convention to elect delegates to the national convention, and at that time make all necessary arrangements for calling all of the remaining State conventions during the life of the committee.

I have consulted many prominent Republicans, and find the consensus of opinion to be that, if agreeable to all, or nearly all, of the members of the State committee, it would be advisable under present conditions to reverse the proceeding, and call the first or Presidential convention, without a meeting of the State committee, the preliminary arrangements to be made by the executive committee, and later, after the national convention is held, have a meeting of the whole committee to arrange the details of the fall convention. In this manner we will have before us all of the national nominees for President, as well as the respective party platforms. The issues of the campaign will be made up, and there may be many reasons for making a conference of the members, coming as they do from every part of the State, very desirable. At that time it is generally believed it may be possible to obtain and furnish transportation for members of the State committee to Denver and return, which I am now unable to do.

I enclose a blank on which please indicate your views upon the subject, and return as promptly as practicable, so as to enable me to take such steps as may be found necessary after I shall have received replies from the various members of the committee. I shall, in the matter of calling this convention, be governed by the wishes of the several members of the committee as expressed to me by their replies. Respectfully yours,

IRVING HOWBERT,
Chairman.

Chairman Howbert's Reasons.

The reasons which have led the chairman to recommend this course of procedure are there: It is almost impossible for the committee to meet more than once during the campaign. It is felt that the situation in this State will be cleared up a great deal by the action of the St. Louis convention and that it will be a great deal easier for the committee to determine what to do after the action of that convention is known than before. The executive committee can just as well call the district and State conventions for the selection of delegates to the St. Louis convention, and then the full committee can meet to deliberate after the nominations at St. Louis are made, and before the State convention is held, at which a Governor and other State officers are to be nominated.

The delegates to St. Louis have to be selected at the different conventions—or rather at three, for the delegates from each district have to be selected by a district convention, according to the terms of the call for the national convention, and the four delegates for the State at large have to be selected at a State convention. The district conventions will probably be held some time in April, and the State convention the day after the district conventions.

WILL FIGHT TO-DAY.

The Kinetoscope and Scrappers on the Way to the Battle Field.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 20.—Barring interference from powers earthly or higher Fitz and Maher will settle the question of their superiority in the prize ring as soon after sunrise to-morrow morning as the atmospherical conditions are favorable to the operation of the kinetoscope.

At midnight the party is en route to the battle ground, the departure having been made over the Southern Pacific road shortly after 10 o'clock.

There were not a dozen men in the entire eight coach loads, however, who knew just where they were going to bring up. Every other man had a different tip, and each was positive that his was the only simon pure article. There were surface indications, however, that the first destination was Del Rio, which is 45 miles distant from this city. Across the Rio Grande Del Norte, the Mexican territory is in the State of Coahuila and outside of the jurisdiction of Governor Ahumada. The nearest military post is Porfirio Diaz, 75 miles distant. For miles around the country is wild and mountainous, while the hills contain a score of level plateaus that would make an ideal spot for the encounter.

Those closest to the promoters believe that this is the destination, but there are others who claim to have authentic information that the intention is to run to Langtry, a station forty miles this side, and then double back to Fort Hancock, 35 miles from here, where the Mexican frontier is reported reached in a walk of a mile and a quarter. Color is given to this theory by a remark of one of the managers to the effect that while it would take 7 to 12 hours to reach the battle ground the return might be made in two if the engineer were so disposed.

The United Press learns that the Mexican authorities were advised several days since that the ring was in progress of erection near Langtry and that the kinetoscope apparatus was on the ground. The mountainous nature of the country, however, makes the battle ground inaccessible to the Mexican troops unless they cross the American side at Eagle Pass, and to do this it would be necessary to obtain a permit from the Washington War department. It is not known whether such a permit has been applied for or granted. All that is definitely known at this writing is that the party is off to Stuart's "safe ground" and that the principals are fit and prime for the ring. The wires to-morrow will take up the thread of the story, whether the strands be floating in old Mexico, or New Mexico, in Texas or in Arizona.

The announcement that definite information concerning the departure would be given out at 5 o'clock attracted a large crowd to headquarters. There were Mexicans whose apparel designated them as being of very high and very low degree; well dressed American sports and a fringe of brawny cattlemen, colored brethren and hangers-out at the local saloons and gambling houses.

At least a third of the throng looked as though it had not seen the price of a ticket to the ring side for many a long day. Perhaps Dan Stuart was off the same opinion, for after surveying with a curl of his lip the aggregation that had responded to his call, he whispered to one of his associates and left the room. Five minutes later when the office boy posted the following on the plate glass windows there was a break for the open:

Notice—Those intending to witness the Maher-Fitzsimmons contest will be at the office at 9:40 to-night. The railroad tickets will cost not over $12 for the round trip.

(Signed) W. K. WHELOCK.

There were snorts and grunts and howls of disapprobation when the closing paragraph was read aloud and a great many of the crowd freely expressed the opinion that the affair had been gotten up solely for the benefit of bloated bondholders and millionaires.

The railroad people were entirely uncertain up to the last moment whether to run the train in two sections and finally sent it out in one with a train of ten cars, including four Pullmans and two tourists, pulled by a heavy freight engine. A crowd of 1,000 people was at the depot to see the pilgrims off. Most of them carried baskets loaded with food for a two days' stay, as Langtry station is 388 miles down the river in a desolate country not overburdened with lunching privileges.

Adjt. Gen. Mabry with 20 rangers armed with Winchesters and six-shooters went along with the "pugs." Gen. Mabry stating he and his men will camp right with the prize fighters until they are through. A force of 16 rangers is left in El Paso under sergeants to help guard the town, as some fears were expressed lest the toughs left in town might attempt robberies.

The train is due at Langtry at 1:32 a. m. to-morrow, and the west-bound train is due at 5:37, which will give ample time in which to pull off the fight on Mexican soil. All the tickets read to Langtry, one fare, $11.65, being charged for the round trip.

The kinetoscope and ring fixtures reached the spot ten days ago, and a telegram to Gen. Mabry this evening from a ranger sent to Langtry stated the fixtures were well up over the river. The crowd gets back Saturday morning.

El Paso at midnight is a dead quiet town, a wonderful contrast with the crowds of three hours ago. There has been no disorder or trouble to-night of any kind.

FUNDS NOW NEEDED.

The Red Cross Society Will Undertake Armenian Relief at Once.

New York, Feb. 20.—The National Armenian Relief commission to-day received the following cable message from Miss Clara Barton:

"Freeat entrance granted. Assistants leave for Harpoot, Aleppo and other provinces immediately. Must draw funds now."

In response to this the commission to-day sent $4,000 by cable to Constantinople, and will send forward other sums immediately.

The committee makes the following announcement: Large amounts are urgently required. It is known that many have delayed giving owing to uncertainty of funds reaching the sufferers. No further doubt should be entertained, but funds should be sent at once to Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York City.

THEIR FINAL BULLETIN.

Latest Circular by the League Racing Board of 1895.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—The final bulletin of the retiring board of 1895 of the L. A. W. has been issued by Chairman Gideon as follows:

At the meeting of the racing board on Feb. 10, at Baltimore, Hamilton's record for the unpaced mile in 2:00 2-5 (paced to the tape by tandem) was rejected. The professional record of A. F. Senn, unpaced five miles, was considered and it was decided that this record should also be thrown out.

Casey Castleman, Los Angeles, Cal., declared professional.

In view of the new evidence on behalf of C. M. Murphy to the racing board the suspension placed upon him has been taken.

EL PASO IN THE LEAD.

The Fountain Dynamite Disaster Initiated in South Africa.

Johannesburg, Feb. 20.—The explosion of dynamite which occurred at Vlakdendorp, a suburb of this city, last evening, was more disastrous than was at first believed.

Eight railroad cars loaded with dynamite were being switched from one track to another when the explosion took place. At the spot where the dynamite exploded a hole 30 feet deep was made in the ground, and every house within half a mile was razed to the ground. Forty bodies have been found and the search is only just beginning. Two hundred injured persons have been taken to the hospital where several of them have died. Comparatively few white persons were killed.

The latest estimate places the number of killed at over 100. Most of the victims were poor Boers.

Republican Congressional Caucus.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Republican Congressional caucus to-night adopted a resolution offered by Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, providing for the formation of a congressional committee for the 55th Congress. The resolution provides that each State having Republican representation in Congress shall be entitled to a member of the campaign committee and authorizes the various State congressional delegations to nominate members therefor. These are to be named within ten days.

Providence Depot Burned.

Providence, Feb. 20.—Fire started in the Worcester division of the Union depot at midnight to-night. A part of the depot containing the baggage room was saved. The remainder was completely gutted.

WITH NATIONAL LEGISLATORS.

Senator Morgan Becomes Excited Over Cuba's Woes.

WANTS INDEPENDENCE AT ONCE.

Senate and House Committees are Both Occupied with Pacific Railroads—Mr. Huntington's Examination Continued.

Washington, Feb. 20.—For three hours and a half to-day the Senate was engaged in a debate on the resolution for the recognition of the belligerent rights of the Cuban insurgents, and the alternative resolution for the recognition of Cuban independence. This was a very full attendance of Senators, and the galleries were filled by an interested and sometimes excited assemblage of men and women.

The debate was opened by Senator Call (Dem.) of Florida, and continued by Mr. Cameron (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, who offered a substitute for the concurrent resolution in these words: "That the President is hereby requested to interpose his friendly offices with the Spanish government for the recognition of the independence of Cuba."

In a written speech he declared that the question was no longer one of belligerency, but one of independence. He wanted the government to act. The policy which he advocated was, he asserted, the policy of the Republican party and of the American people.

He was followed by Senators Lodge (Rep.) of Massachusetts, and Morgan (Dem.) of Alabama.

Mr. Morgan was the author of the concurrent resolution, and reported it from the Committee on Foreign Relations. Each speech, in succession, seemed to outstrip the other in patriotic fervor, and in devotion to the Cuban cause, and some of the speeches attracted applause from the galleries.

Senator Morgan Grows Excited.

Mr. Morgan opened on very conservative lines, but as he progressed, and as he was drawn out by the inquiries of other Senators, he seemed to give full scope to his real convictions and desires, and expressed himself in no doubtful or hesitating language in favor of taking the most advanced position. He declared his belief that Spain would not release her hold upon the throat of Cuba, and that she would rather lose the island as the result of war with the United States than yield it for a price or lose it through the success of the insurgents. At one point in his speech he exclaimed passionately that in a certain event it was "our duty to draw the sword, lay it on the table, and say to Spain, 'If you want to take it up, take it up.'"

This exclamation drew applause from the galleries.

Mr. Morgan was not able to finish his speech, but will continue at the session of Monday next, the Senate adjourning at 5:30 o'clock until Monday, when the President pro tem. (Frye, Republican, of Maine) is to read Washington's farewell address.

HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The consideration of the Indian appropriation bill, the principal topic before the House to-day, was marked by two incidents: one of interest, the other of importance.

In the general debate on the measure, Mr. Wilson (Rep.) of Ohio, departing from the text before him, made a speech advocating the passage of a protective tariff bill, in the course of which he had read from the clerk's desk extracts from the speech of Maj. McKinley at the Marquette club dinner, Chicago, Feb. 12. Efforts by the friends of other Presidential candidates to head off this advertisement of the Ohio candidate on the floor of the House were unavailing.

When the Committee of the Whole reported the paragraph in that bill providing for the pay of five Indian inspectors, a motion was made to reduce their salaries from $3,000 to $2,500. That had been done in the last two previous bills, and the action of the Indian Committee in fixing them at the figure named in the statute establishing the office, met objection on both sides of the chamber.

The motion to reduce the salaries was made by Mr. Dockery (Dem.) of Missouri and supported by Messrs. Cannon (Rep.) of Illinois and Hemenway (Rep.) of Indiana, members of the Appropriations committee, and by Mr. Dingley (Rep.) of Maine, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means.

The latter gentleman earnestly appealed to the Committee of the Whole not to follow the Indian Committee in its policy of raising salaries, and was answered by Mr. Crisp (Dem.) of Georgia, who said that the proposition to reduce the salaries of Indian inspectors was as unjustifiable as would be one to reduce the salary of the gentleman from Maine, and compel him to accept the reduced salary in lieu of the one fixed by law. The Indian Committee's position was supported by Mr. Hopkins (Rep.) of Illinois and Mr. Sherman (Rep.) of New York, chairman, and the Dockery amendment was defeated, 56 to 93.

The general pension appropriation bill was sent to conference on the disagreeing votes of the two houses, and the Senate amendments to the diplomatic and consular bill were agreed to. This now goes to the President for his signature.

Mr. Willis (Rep.) of Delaware reported favorably from the Committee on Agriculture, the Senate joint resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to purchase and distribute seeds in 1896, as was done in former years, and asked immediate action. An objection by Mr. Erdman (Dem.) of Pennsylvania sent it to the calendar.

The House at 5:10 o'clock adjourned until to-morrow.

MORGAN AND HUNTINGTON.

The Magnate and the Senator Continue to Entertain Each Other.

Washington, Feb. 20. Collis P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, was again before the Senate Pacific Railroad committee this morning, and Senator Morgan continued his examination as to the relations between the Central Pacific and the Contract and Finance Company.

The stock received by the latter company for building the Central Pacific, Mr. Huntington said, was sold, and the proceeds were used to pay off the debts of the construction company. He could not recall the exact amount that remained after the debts were paid, but thought it approximated $2,000,000. Mr. Hopkins, his partner, had attended to the bookkeeping and he could not say what his share in the division was. He now owned, he said, six thousand shares of Central Pacific stock and had never owned a larger block.

The Government Report.

Mr. Morgan then produced the report of the government commissioners, Messrs. Anderson and Littler, and the minority report of Governor Pattison, and then asked Mr. Huntington if he had read them; to which the latter replied that possibly he had. Mr. Morgan then asked Mr. Huntington's views on various statements made in the report—which he read—but received noncommittal replies, Mr. Huntington stating that it was so long ago that he could not be positive.

Regarding the report of Gov. Pattison, Mr. Huntington said he thought from what he knew of it that it was largely a copy of the Sum Brannon report.

Mr. Morgan expressed the hope that Mr. Huntinton would read the Pattison report, for he wished to examine him on it, to see if that report had misrepresented him (Huntington) in any way.

Mr. Huntington remarked sarcastically that he was glad the Senator was looking out for his (Huntington's) interests.

Mr. Morgan said he intended the examination should be absolutely impartial in every way. He was not making a personal fight on Mr. Huntington, but was trying to do his duty as a member of the committee in getting at the facts in the case.

Contract and Finance Company.

He then turned his attention to the Contract and Finance company, its organization and the awarding of the contracts to that company for building the various sections of the Central Pacific.

Mr. Huntington said the company was formed because no one could be found to take such enormous contracts by reason of the uncertainty of the liability involved. The contract company was formed where the liability would be known. He had tried to place stock of the company in New York and Boston, and was in the East when Mr. Hopkins had telegraphed him as to how much stock the firm of Huntington and Hopkins should take. He had replied: "Take as little as you can and as much as you must."

In response to Senator Morgan's question as to what debts were outstanding when the Central Pacific was completed, outside of the bond debt, Mr. Huntington said he did not know that there were any, but there might have been. At the time of the completion of the road Contract and Finance company owed considerably more than ten millions of dollars. It had something like fifty millions of shares of the Central Pacific and sold in the neighborhood of twenty-eight millions, some of these shares sold as high as 85 cents and some sold as low as 19 cents.

In the further course of the cross examination, Mr. Huntington said that after the Contract and Finance company got through the construction of the Central Pacific it had some money to divide, but no bonds.

The Missing Books.

Mr. Morgan called attention to the majority report of the government directors, in which the statement was made that the evidence appeared to be conclusive that the books of Charles Crocker & Co., and of the Contract and Finance company had been destroyed on the order of Stanford, Huntington & Crocker. This was denied by Mr. Huntington.

If the books had been destroyed or ordered to be destroyed, Mr. Huntington said he knew nothing of it and if they had been destroyed, it was because the work of the company had been completed and finally settled and the books were an incumbrance, useless to no one. If they had been thus destroyed, they probably went to some junk shop.

In discussing the report of the government in the case, Mr. Huntington said they had accused him of almost everything but piracy on the high seas.

"Possibly," replied Mr. Morgan, "that was because there was no water along the line of your property."

"Oh yes, there was plenty of water there," said Mr. Huntington.

Again when the cost of the construction of the road, as set out in the report, was under discussion, Mr. Huntington said the commission must have got its information through the Sutro-Examiner combine, or the Examiner-Sutro combine, he did not know which was the head and which was the tail.

Without further incident the hearing was continued until to-morrow morning.

PACIFIC RAILROADS.

Ellery Anderson Favors Their Sale Under Foreclosure.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The House Committee on Pacific Railroads to-day heard Messrs. E. Ellery Anderson and W. H. Coombs, government directors of the Union Pacific, on matters pertaining to that road.

Mr. Anderson favored the sale of the Central and Union Pacific together. He thought the government would realize more in this way than any other. The two roads, he said, would form a line from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean unrivalled for business capacity, and so many railroads would be interested in obtaining such a road that it would bring a good price. He spoke of the difficulty of adjusting the Pacific roads question, and the elements to be considered in doing so, and said it was especially the case when the matter was presented to Congress. He was unable to see how any funding bill could be prepared which would suit the House. No such bill could be formed giving the government a first lien on the Union Pacific which the road could carry into effect, even at a rate of interest as low as 2 per cent.

Mr. Coombs favored having the government foreclose its liens on the Union and Central Pacific roads and sell them at auction. If this was done those interested would contest for their rights. The Union and Central Pacific, the Kansas Pacific, the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and other big roads would all bid for the property. He did not think that the House would agree to any bill extending the debt of the roads. The country could really afford to give the roads away; but to whom was it to give them.

The Yankee Was Outsailed.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—The Yokohama correspondent of the Daily Report, writing under date of Jan. 28, says the United States cruiser Olympia, while on the way to Nagasaki from Kobe, was overtaken and passed by the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of India, which had left Kobe five hours later. The news of the run created considerable surprise as the Olympia on her way from Yokohama to Kobe encountered a storm, and, according to reports from her officers, not only behaved magnificently, but achieved a speed of over 22 knots an hour.

The correspondent concludes his letter as follows:

"The impression is as potent as fact with these Orientals and if the American government wishes to give its ship builders a good advertisement and assist them to the prestige they have honestly earned, it will order the Olympia to make a speed run in the presence of doubting foreigners."

A Crazy Woman's Crime.

New York, Feb. 20.—Mrs. George Kelso, of 118 West Ninety-eighth street, this afternoon killed her two children, Estelle, 4½ years old, and Radford, 2½ years, by shooting them with a revolver and then attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. She was temporarily insane at the time. A physician attended the woman and she was placed under arrest.

The Havel Arrives.

New York, Feb. 21.—The steamer Havel from Bremen passed in at Sandy Hook at 1:40 o'clock this morning, having on board the remains of the late Ambassador to Germany, Theodore Runyon.

An Expedition to Labrador.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—An expedition bound for the interior of Labrador will leave Philadelphia in June for the purpose of studying the Esquimaux and collecting specimens of the flora and fauna of that region. Prof. Frank Russell, curator of the University of Iowa, accompanied the expedition as archaeologist.

NEW CASTLE'S MINE HORROR.

The Work of Rescue Pushed as Fast as is Possible.

TWELVE BODIES NOW RECOVERED

The Entire Town at Work at the Ill-Fated Vulcan Mine—Funeral of a Victim—A Robber Narrowly Escapes Lynching.

New Castle, Colo., Feb. 20.—Rescue work at the Vulcan mine was temporarily retarded by the placing of a pump so as to draw the water out of the stope. A large force was working, never ceasing except for a few minutes to eat a mouthful.

This morning about 5 o'clock a party went down, and in one of the side entries found the body of Will Dore, who kept the door; Nick Ross, an Italian miner; Robert Cottle and Emil Funk, son of John Funk, pit boss.

Will Dore and Robert Cottle evidently died from suffocation, and Ross and young Funk were instantly killed by the explosion. All four bodies were found in the first left entry about 500 feet from the entrance to the main stope. From 1 o'clock in the morning, when the brattice over the right entry was put in place, the crews were kept steadily at work clearing away the massive debris from the entrance to the left east workings.

A Dangerous Task.

The task was rendered dangerous by reason of the prevalent black damp, but towards morning the fan had expelled most of it from the workings, and by 5 o'clock the crews were able to work out the full two hour shifts.

The first funeral service was held to-day over the body of Ed. Welsh, the rope rider, who was blown out of the stope by the terrible explosion.

His sister arrived here to-day from Cripple Creek in response to a telegram sent by Mrs. Welsh before the accident occurred, she having been moved by some premonition of impending trouble to do this.

The coroner has decided to not hold an inquest until all the bodies most readily obtainable have been brought to the surface. It is his intention then to probe the affair to the bottom by making the most searching examination into the cause of the accident and to thus fix the responsibility.

It is impossible just now to say how many bodies remain in the mine. The clerk of the Vulcan company has made a careful check of his books, and gives it out that the dead will not exceed 49 in number, eight of whom have been recovered and 41 still remain within. Concerning this estimate there is room for doubt, however, as to whether it is large enough. Many of the miners who worked in the Vulcan and were off temporarily the day of the explosion, insist that there are four or five more men entombed than are given on the clerk's list.

Arrested for Robbery.

Carl Schmidt, at one time a saloonkeeper here, was arrested this afternoon by a deputy sheriff on the charge of grand larceny. It is said that he rifled the effects of John Funk, in his house near the Vulcan mine. Funk and his son Emil were both killed by the explosion, and the father's body has not yet been recovered. There was indignation among the miners over Schmidt's alleged act, and while the funeral of Ed. Welsh was in progress this afternoon, mutterings of an ominous nature were heard on the street corners. Schmidt is in the city jail, but arrangements are being discussed by the sheriff looking to his early removal from town. In case he remains here over night it would not be surprising if he met with rough treatment.

Four More Bodies Found.

Four more bodies were recovered at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Chris Seigle, Tony Tapero, John Gombard and Charles Merchant, making a total of 12 bodies recovered so far. Working shifts of eight men are now steadily removing the debris, the work all being done in the left entry, and it is almost certain that nearly all of the dead are in there.

Carl Schmidt was taken up back streets and alleys, until clear of town and a freight train was flagged by the officers. He was put on and taken to Glenwood Springs for safety from a mob, which would surely have lynched him if he had remained in New Castle.

The town is draped in mourning, all the stores and places of business have been closed to-day, and everything possible is being done to assist in the rescue of bodies and console the mothers, wives and orphans of the dead miners. The ladies are cooking and serving meals to all at the mines, so those working do not have to leave to get food.

LATEST FROM CUBA.

The Spaniards Continue to Claim Small Victories.

(From a Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

Havana, Feb. 20.—An official report issued to-day states that Capt. Gen. Weyler, learning that the insurgents intended to make an attack on Jaruco, an important town on the railroad midway between Havana and Matanzas, sent a body of troops from this city at 4 o'clock yesterday morning to protect the town. His measures to meet the rebels were, however, fruitless, for the attacking party, which was made up of men from the combined bands of Gomez and Maceo, moved so rapidly that by the time the troops arrived the rebels had done their work and disappeared.

They attacked the town at 9 o'clock Tuesday night, meeting with very slight resistance. In fact, the volunteers surrendered to the enemy. The insurgents marched to the jail and released the prisoners therein, after which they set fire to the structure, and a number of other buildings, all of which were destroyed.

The train conveying the troops from this city was delayed en route, the rebels having torn up the tracks in several places. When the troops finally arrived at Jaruco the rebels refused to fight and retreated, they left one of their number dead in the streets and a wounded rebel was subsequently discovered. It is believed that more were wounded, but were carried off by their companions. The Spanish loss was one volunteer killed and six regulars wounded.

The column commanded by Col. Hernandez was sent from Jaruco in pursuit of the rebels, and managed to overtake some of them. They numbered 1,500 mounted men. In the fighting that followed 12 of the insurgents were killed and many wounded. The troops had three wounded. Gen. Aldecoa's column, who also pursued the rebels, had an encounter with Gomez's party near Jaruco and dispersed them, causing losses that are not known.

Gen. Linares's column found another body of the enemy, and used cannon against them, with what result is not known.

Col. Tert also met the rear guard of the rebel forces, but no details of the result are known.

Gen. Aldecoa, after the engagement near Jaruco, had another fight with the forces of Gomez at Navio. One rebel was killed and many wounded. The troops had five wounded. Gen. Aldecoa followed the rebels to the San Marco ranch, where, after two hours' fighting, the enemy were compelled to retreat. The rebel losses are believed to have been heavy. The Spaniards lost two dead and four wounded.

This series of encounters occurred during the pursuit of the rebel forces which attacked Jaruco. It is rumored that Gomez was wounded in one of the fights.

Yesterday a soldier killed an unknown man who was seated in a restaurant in this city. The victim was wounded in the head, body and legs. The soldier was placed under arrest. The authorities say he is demented.

WILL NOT SUE.

Mr. Waller Declines Further Business in Business in French Courts.

Washington, Feb. 20.—There does not seem to be any intention on the part of Mr. Waller's counsel or of his friends to take advantage of the offer made by the United States ambassador under instructions from the State Department, to enter suit for damages in the French courts with the United States ambassador providing the requisite security for costs. On the contrary, the Waller family find that the United States on the facts as disclosed decline to make an international affair out of Waller's offense, and are contemplating his return to Kansas, from which State he was originally appointed consul at Tamatave, Madagascar. Mrs. Waller is said to be at present in Baltimore making arrangements for this purpose. Nothing has been heard from Waller directly by his family for three or four weeks according to the statements made by his daughter to-day.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

A Murderer Made to Suffer Double Pangs of Death.

St. Louis, Feb. 20.—James Fitzgerald was slowly strangled to death this morning in the county jail by a bungling executioner and his assistants.

The rope broke, Fitzgerald was twice dashed from the gallows, the first time to fall crushed and bleeding, but still conscious, on the stone floor. Until the horrified doctors and bailiffs could summon nerve to approach the man he lay struggling helplessly beneath the gallows, his hands and feet bound, his face covered by the black cap, and his body entangled in the rope fastened about his neck. When the black cap was torn from his face blood shot from his mouth, nose and eyes, bespattered the bailiffs and doctors who pressed around him.

Despite the awful agony the man suffered he retained consciousness and was piled with stimulants until he realized fully the horror of his fate. He was then removed to the morgue, where stimulants were again applied. By the time a new rope had been obtained, Fitzgerald had as clear a conscience of the terrible ordeal he had undergone and awaited him as any man who had witnessed the dreadful scene.

At 11 o'clock 40 minutes after the trap had fallen the first time he was again led to the scaffold. Sick and trembling, but courageous, he once more submitted to the binding and at 11:03 the trap again sank beneath him, this time carrying him to death.

Fitzgerald's crime was the murder of his sweetheart, Annie Naessens, the night of Nov. 24, 1893.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

The French Deputies Support the Present Ministry.

Paris, Feb. 20.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Georges Chaudey, Republican member for Saone-Haute, interpellated the government as to statements made by M. Ricard, Minister of Justice, in regard to the appointment of Judge Poitevin to conduct the inquiry into the Southern railway scandals, and in connection with the action taken by the Senate thereon. In these statements he declared, M. Ricard had contradicted himself.

M. Ricard reiterated his former statements in which he repeated that he assumed full responsibility for the acts on his part which the Senate had condemned. He repeated explanations of his course which he had made in the chamber a few days ago.

M. Barthou, Republican deputy for the Lower Pyrenees, replied to M. Ricard.

M. Ricard answered Barthou's speech, and was followed by ex-Premier Ribot, who dwelt with emphasis upon M. Ricard's irregularities, and warned the cabinet against deviating from their original programme in order to retain the support of fomenters of a campaign of revision and revolution, whose general policy had involved the cabinet. The chamber renewed its vote of confidence in the government by a vote of 309 to 155. Former vote of confidence taken on Feb. 13, in response to Premier Bourgeois's demand was 326 to 43.

M. Lasserre, Republican member for Tarn et Garonne, moved a rider to the vote of confidence, that the chamber censure M. Ricard for his statements and acts. The motion was rejected by a vote of 279 to 234.

The debate throughout was excited and noisy. After the vote had been taken Prime Minister Bourgeois sent seconds to M. Raymond Poincare, formerly Minister of Finance, to demand an explanation of a veiled imputation of political cowardice made by him against M. Bourgeois. Instead of giving any explanation, M. Poncare referred the two seconds of M. Bourgeois to two gentlemen he selected to represent him. The four seconds held a conference and it is believed they will arrange the matter so that no duel will be fought.

The bureau of the Senate will meet tomorrow morning to discuss the action of the Chamber of Deputies and also the action to be taken by the Senate. M. Loubet, president of the Senate, is not inclined to give battle. A long adjournment to enable the quarrel to cool is favored by many, and it is likely that this course will be adopted.

Clothing Cutters' Strike.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Nine hundred clothing cutters and trimmers who belong to the local union were on strike to-day, and the intention is to stay idle until the 29 manufacturing firms for whom they worked accede to the strikers' demands—a recognition of the old union again as to hours, wages and shop regulations, which the union wants continued while the manufacturers will not be bound by any union agreement. Eleven firms were reported to be in favor of complying with the strikers terms, as they are not members of the Clothing Manufacturers association. Two hundred of the men on strike went out before to-day and the other 700 were ordered out by the meeting last night. It is estimated that at least 25,000 men and women, boys and girls have been thrown out of employment by the general strike. There were no applications at the factories for work in place of the strikers.

A Pardon Denied.

Washington, Feb. 20.—President Cleveland in denying a pardon to E. M. Holston, convicted in Oregon of forgery in a pension case, says he is decidedly in favor of strict punishment in a case like this, which involves the swindling of a poor and needy veteran and a prostitution of the benevolent intentions of the government as embodied in its pension laws."

Indiana Democrats.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—The Democratic State committee met to-day and named June 24 as the date of the State convention.

IT IS WITHDRAWN FROM THE MARKET

The Option On the Great Raven Mine Not Taken Up.

E WORKED BY THE COMPANY

For All It Is Worth—Probably Pay Dividends by April—The Reserves to be Shipped—Concerning the Doctor Shipments.

Special to The Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Feb. 20.—There has been considerable talk about the sale of the Raven to Eastern parties of late, but this is now said to be erroneous, the fact being that the company who proposed purchasing it did not take the option up. The Raven company has now withdrawn the mine from the market, and will work the property for all it is worth. Men are at work re-opening the upper tunnel and pushing work there and in other places. The ore bins at the mouth of the lower tunnel are nearing completion. The company has secured control of the Raven tunnel which passes under the claims and will push work here.

The Gregory shaft, one of the claims of the company, is being widened out into a two-compartment shaft, and will make this the principal workings of the company. The company has $50,000 and 995,000 shares in the treasury, and so is in a good position to do lots of work even if it does not ship a pound of ore for months to come. There will be lots of ore shipped, however, the reserves of years, and it is quite likely that dividends will commence by April next.

The Ingham company is now shipping an average of 75 tons of ore every month. The average value is $167 per ton.

The Doctor is shipping 140 tons of ore every week, which averages $150 per ton. All this is being hoisted through one shaft. It is now 350 feet deep, and the mine keeps 40 men busy. Every one who sees this Raven hill property says that it is one of the greatest mines of the camp.

A new vein has been uncovered in the north end of the Princess E., belonging to the Raven company. It will not be exploited until the shaft is deep enough to allow of a cross-cut being run under the vein at the 200-foot level.

The Phoenix and Ellen McGregor claims on Gold hill were purchased today by Messrs. A. B. Tooley and J. T. Grafton, recent visitors to the "greatest gold camp on earth." Two steam hoists will be erected on the property, and a couple of three compartment shafts put down. The new owners are after ore, and they intend to cut the ore chutes, however deep they have to go. Mr. Tooley is connected with the Vanderbilts and Mr. Grafton is an old-time prospector miner who has owned valuable properties in every mining State in the country. He is now in the prime of life, and says that Cripple Creek will prove to be his El Dorado.

CRIPPLE CREEK'S MAIL.

An Inspector to be Located There to Assist in the Emergency.

Washington, Feb. 20. Senator Teller made another visit to the Postoffice Department to-day in the interest of the Cripple Creek postoffice. He told the authorities that what they had done was appreciated by the people of Cripple Creek, but it was not half enough. He urged the necessity for a free delivery system, but was met with the argument that in so new a place many of the people were transient and not likely to remain long at one house while in the town. They agreed, however, to send an inspector to Cripple Creek to remain permanently, with the view of having him make a thorough study of the situation looking to improving the facilities from time to time.

Senator Teller says the authorities appear to have a correct appreciation of the situation, and he thinks they are now disposed to accommodate the people of Cripple Creek to an adequate extent in the matter of postoffice facilities.

NOT A SUCCESS.

Small Business at the New New York Mining Exchange.

New York, Feb. 20.—The call at 11 o'clock at the New York Mining exchange was not a success, owing to the inability of some of the principal dealers to be present.

Another call was therefore arranged for 2 p. m., but little business was done, because of more or less misunderstanding as to rules and regulations. Colorado and other western brokers have been prohibited from trading, except through the regular brokers of the exchange, which has shut off this trading to a considerable extent. This is a regulation visitors had not counted on. The principal trading this morning was in Manhattan Development stock of Idaho at 20¢.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The British Government Might Think of of Reopening Indian Mints.

London, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons to-day, Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, and the leader of the Conservative majority, opposed a drastic alteration of the procedure of the House. Hitherto Fridays have been added to discussion of private members bills. Henceforth, according to Mr. Balfour's proposal, the discussion of the government's estimates must be completed within a period including twenty consecutive Fridays. This alteration involves the time limit method suggested by Mr. Chamberlain in former years, and based upon the American model.

Mr. James F. Hogan, member for Middle Tipperary, asked the government what was the prospect of the return of ex-King Mataafa and his banished followers to Samoa. Mr. George N. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary for Foreign Affairs, replied that there was no prospect of their return.

Mr. Balfour in reply to a question asked by Sir William H. Houldsworth, member for Northwest Manchester, said it was not true that Germany had approached Great Britain with a view of the conclusion of a monetary agreement. The British government, he said, was willing to consider the matter of reopening the Indian mints if such action could be made part of a bimetallic scheme of currency reform.

Mr. Curzon, replying to a question by Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, said that Great Britain regarded Russia's pledge, given in 1885, not to occupy Korea under any circumstances, as still binding.

The House passed on its first reading a bill introduced by the government providing for the giving of assistance in the construction of light railways and other agricultural and other local industries. The bill allots one million pounds for loans for this purpose, the loans to run for seven years at 3 per cent.

The Gold Reserve.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Treasury gold reserve at the close of business stood at $93,614,361. The withdrawals for the day aggregated $1,403,127. It is expected that to-morrow the gold reserve will exceed $100,000,000.

Great Difficulty In Settling the Venezuelan Dispute.

WILL DISTURB GOLD HUNTERS.

Uncle Sam's Physical Greatness—A Bitter Fight in Prospect—Probable Cost of the Nicaraguan Canal—Report of the Commission.

Washington, Feb. 20. (Special.) One of the great difficulties in the way of settlement of the boundary dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela is the fact that the authorities of British Guiana have issued mining permits to several hundred gold hunting companies within the disputed district. This information comes from high official sources and may be relied upon as accurate and important. Under these grants large sums of money have been invested by the queen's subjects, and they have in many cases developed valuable and promising properties. The statesmen at London feel that they cannot abandon these miners to their fate. If arbitration should vest title to the mining region in Venezuela, the claims might be invalidated. While Venezuela might agree to respect all mining grants given by Guiana, the miners themselves object most decidedly to being transferred to Venezuelan jurisdiction. They know what that means and are sure that in the end they would be practically deprived of the fruits of their labors and investments. This is the real stumbling block in the way of settlement.

An Itching Foot.

I have it on good authority that Great Britain cares little about the remainder of the disputed territory. It is in large part worthless land. Some of it might be converted into prosperous coffee plantations, but it is the mining region that gives the trouble. When Lord Salisbury talks of 40,000 British subjects who might be compelled to leave the queen's dominions as a result of the arbitration verdict, he means mining companies and their employees, not farmers and permanent settlers, though it will be observed Lord Salisbury does not say so. It is said there are in the disputed territory very few farmers or other home-makers, living out the mines. It will also be noticed that late cablegrams from London confirm the accuracy of the statement made recently in these dispatches to the effect that the Venezuelan government has sent a confidential agent to London to treat with the foreign office for settlement of all the points of the quarrel, including arbitration, the Uruan incident and the resumption of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

We Are the People.

That this is a great country probably every American realizes, but it remained for a new congressman from Virginia, Mr. Otey, in a recent speech on the silver question to put the vastness of the United States and of the state of Texas in particular before us in a new and most interesting way. "In my old bullet riddled, cavalry ridden, battle scarred state," said Mr. Otey, "we have more miles of electric railway than England and France together, more than all Europe, excepting Germany. Start a silver dollar on a straight line from the northwest corner to the southeast corner of Texas, and it will travel a distance as great as from Chicago to Boston. That state alone can support 50,000,000 people. On 165,000 square miles it can raise all the food products of the country; on 19,000 square miles it would produce the 12,000,000 bales of cotton for the world's supply and have a territory as large as the state of New York left for a cattle ranch after deducting all of the desert land. No country presents such a field for internal commerce. Fifty millions in Texas, and population would not be as dense as it is Germany. Place them in New Mexico, not as dense as in Belgium. In the Dakotas, not as dense as in England. We have over one-half of all the fresh water on the globe. Let a silver dollar start up the Mississippi river and then up the Missouri river, and it will find duty to perform on a navigable stream for a distance equal to the distance from New York to Constantinople, on each side of which stream are broad fertile valleys capable of producing every known fruit, flower, cereal or textile plant, with broad acres of virgin forest with every known wood. Our country is composed of 18 republics as large as Spain, of 31 states each as large as Italy, of 60 states each as large as England and Wales. East of the Rocky mountains we have a river flow with 80,000 miles of river bank, counting no stream under 100 miles in length, while all Europe has only 34,000. Our area of arable lands is 1,500,000 square miles, while China supports 400,000,000 people on 1,300,000 square miles. Take the whole of Europe, except Russia, and mold it into one great empire, and you can lay its map down on the map of the United States three times west of the Hudson."

Look Out For Brewers.

There is likely to be a bitter fight in congress over the Nicaraguan canal question. The report of the engineering commission appointed by the president is denounced by the friends of the canal as unjust and inaccurate. The commission reported that, instead of a cost of $70,000,000 being a reasonable estimate, the work will be sure to cost $133,000,000, and perhaps much more. The commission recommended a thorough investigation by another board of engineers, at a cost of $850,000, and with a loss of two years' time. The friends of the canal say the engineers of the recent commission sought to make reputation for themselves by upsetting the estimates of the canal company. It is intimated, rather ungraciously, that the engineers were not averse to the creation of another board, which means, of course, just so much more employment for themselves or other members of their profession. Members of the house committee on interstate commerce say they have been assured that American contractors were ready to undertake construction of the canal complete for $70,000,000. They point to the ease with which the local drainage canal has been constructed at Chicago by the use of modern appliances for removing earth and rock and declare the estimates of the canal company are within reason. The general belief is, however, that the friends of the canal will not be able to break down the force of the adverse report of the commission, and that congress will refuse to commit the United States financially to the project until there has been a thorough examination of the route, and more particularly of the great dam at Ochoa, which is one of the engineering difficulties of greatest magnitude.

A ROYAL FLUSH.

The young czar of Russia is not fond of the cares of state. He is a rather moody individual, very fond of reading. He has made a close study of French literature.

The Prince of Wales is a great newspaper reader, and will skim through a lot of papers and get the gist of each one with the rapidity and accuracy of a trained newspaper man.

The queen of Portugal is addicted to masculine pursuits. She is passionately fond of hunting, and has been seen to herself thrust the knife into the throat of a dying stag. Her love for a bull fight is notorious.

The emperor of Austria smokes so called Virginia cigars, which, being manufactured of the rankest tobacco at Triest, have straws running through them to make them draw and are so green that they have to be held in a flame for several minutes to light.

The king of the Belgians is seldom seen in the theaters of Brussels caring little for theatrical performances. He objects, too, to sitting in the royal box at the various houses of amusement. The queen, on the contrary, is passionately fond of the theater, and rarely misses a first night.

JEWELRY CONCEITS.

A yellow topaz, in the top of a gold purse, pleases a desirable class of patrons.

Keyless watches, in chased silver and morocco cases, have won deserved popularity.

A unique watch is one with green enameled back, in the center of which appears a ruby shamrock.

Single stone rings for men continue to show hand carved shanks and are somewhat massive in effect.

Lorgnette chains are very popular and include both gold and silver chains; also gold chains punctuated with pearls and precious stones.

A notable feature of the present day jewelry is that all kinds of fancy stones are utilized. There also appear some exceedingly clever imitations of precious gems.

As the demand for ladies' belts continues the variety increases, and numerous materials are employed, such as gold and silver galloon, silk, velvet, leather, silver and gold.—Jewelers' Circular.

Over Thirty Years Without Sickness.

MR. H. WEINSTEIN, a well-known, enterprising citizen of Byron, Ill., writes: "Before I paid much attention to regulating the bowels, I hardly knew a well day; but since I learned the evil results of constipation, and the efficacy of AYER'S Pills, I have not had one day's sickness for over thirty years not one attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife had been, previous to our marriage, an invalid for years. She had a prejudice against cathartics, but as soon as she began to use Ayer's Pills her health was restored."

Strong Furniture.

The Furniture we sell has good, solid character. The joints are strong and well braced where they should be. We look out for that. There are plenty of ways of slighting Furniture so that it won't show on the surface. There is neither lack of knowledge nor lack of care in THIS store.

Our prices are at least as low as any dealers' in the state. Very often they are lower. Everybody treated alike.

Quick in effect, heals and leaves no scar. Burning, scaly skin eruptions quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Applied to burns, scalds, old sores, it is magical in effect. Always cures piles. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Soothing, healing, cleansing, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the enemy to sores, wounds and piles, which it never fails to cure. Stops itching and burning. Cures chapped lips and cold-sores in two or three hours. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It affords instant relief from suffering when afflicted with a severe cough or cold. It acts on the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs and never fails to give immediate relief.

A high liver with a torpid liver will not be a long liver. Correct the liver with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, little pills that cure dyspepsia and constipation. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

The little daughter of Mr. Fred Webber, Holland, Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with any thing. I gave him a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says W. P. Holden, merchant and postmaster at West Brimfield, and the next time I saw him he said it worked like a charm. This remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases such as colds, croup and whooping cough, and it is famous for its cures. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains nothing injurious.

Don't invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend upon One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Baker & Co.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Mr. D. Wiley, ex-postmaster, Black Creek, N. Y., was so badly afflicted with rheumatism that he was only able to hobble around with canes, and even then it caused him great pain. After using Chamberlain's Pain Balm he was so much improved that he threw away his canes. He says this liniment did him more good than all other medicines and treatment put together. For sale at 50 cents per bottle.

One Minute Cough Cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

It not only is so, it must be so. One Minute Cough Cure acts quickly, and that's what makes it go. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Old People.
Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50 cents per bottle, at Baker & Co.'s drug store.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, on every occasion that presents itself. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS.

We print this morning a letter which the chairman of the State committee, Mr. Irving Howbert, has sent to all the members of the committee, requesting their assent to the plan of holding the State convention and the district conventions for the election of delegates to the national convention at St. Louis, at the call of the executive committee, and holding the full meeting of the State committee later, before the nominations for the State ticket are to be made.

The State committee can hardly tell what the situation in this State is going to be until after the convention at St. Louis, so that the suggestion seems to be a very good one.

Colorado is entitled to eight delegates in the national convention—two from each Congressional district, to be chosen by a district convention, and four from the State at large, to be chosen by a State convention. It is time to be thinking who will be the best men to send to St. Louis. El Paso county, by reason of her prominence as a steady Republican county, that can be depended upon every year to give a Republican majority, is certainly entitled to one of the delegates.

"EDITED BY THEIR GRUDGES."

It has long been the custom of the country weekly papers in New York State, of Republican politics, to club with the New York Tribune, and The Tribune has secured, by offering very low clubbing rates in this way, an immense circulation throughout the rural districts of that State. This year there is a revolt all along the line. One country paper after another has notified the Tribune and its own readers that it declined any longer to aid in introducing into Republican families a newspaper which devotes half its editorial space to fomenting dissensions in the Republican party. The Steuben Courier led off, and a dozen more that we know of have followed; and soon, if the Tribune does not look out, its weekly circulation will be very seriously affected.

We are entirely in sympathy with the country papers in this matter. The Tribune comes to this office regularly, and we look it over; but we have been so disgusted with its constant efforts to make a breach in the party, its virulent assaults on Republican leaders, and its refusal to submit to majority rule in the party in New York, that we certainly could not recommend it as a Republican paper to anybody. The Mail and Express is about as bad. The only paper in New York which is Republican first, last, and all the time, is The Press.

We hope nobody will take us to mean that we think people should read nothing but Republican papers. We much prefer that everybody should read the other side. But we do object to newspapers, whether in New York or Colorado, which profess to be Republican, and yet keep doing all they can to disrupt the party. Of course such action is due in most cases to the personal feeling of owners or editors, or both. Too many newspapers are "edited by their grudges." If you want a straight Republican New York paper, take the Press; if you want an independent Democratic paper, take The Sun; if you want a mugwump paper, take The Evening Post or the Nation; but unless you want a paper which considers every public question solely from the point of view suggested by the private and personal interests of owner or editor, don't take the New York Tribune or the Denver Republican.

BONDS, REVENUE, AND SILVER.

Senator Lodge has now before the Senate a resolution of investigation into the circumstances of the government loans of the past two years. If we may judge from the gems that has attended the latest loan, an investigation certainly is in order, by somebody.

Our Wellman letter yesterday told of the doubts which are now assailing treasury officials lest the loan may not replenish the gold reserve after all. By the terms of the call, the bonds may be paid for in instalments; and the purchaser may put his gold for greenbacks at one subtreasury, and tender it for his bonds at another. There was deficit in the gold reserve of no less than $55,000,000 to begin with. The whole loan will bring in only $111,000,000. It is evident that if any considerable part of the gold for the bonds comes out of the treasury, the reserve will not be made up to much over the $100,000,000 mark; and a few days, or weeks at most, of Secretary Carlisle's financiering will take the reserve down again to what the Eastern people who profess to [illegible] "danger line."

But this is not the only feature of the call which indicates a lack on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury of the first elements of business sense. We printed several days ago a story from a New York paper, telling how a smart boy had made $6,000 in a few days by taking advantage of the terms of Mr. Carlisle's call. The boy simply put in his bid, at 104 or so, for $1,000 of the bonds, and then sold his option to a banker for $6,000. This story sounds a bit apocryphal; but there was nothing in the call to prevent just such transactions. In fact since the award of the bonds it is found that a good many of them have been awarded to irresponsible persons. No deposit or other evidence of good faith was required of bidders; so that anybody might bid who chose, whether he had any money or not.

This state of facts leads us to make a prediction: within the next fortnight, the mugwump press will be showing exultantly that the popular loan was a failure; that it did not replenish the treasury reserve; that it would have been a great deal better for the government to give the whole loan, even at 104½, to Mr. Morgan, than to a lot of people all over the country; and that in any future loans—and of course future loans are all but certain, during Mr. Cleveland's term of office it will be much better to get Mr. Morgan to take the bonds, and guarantee to get the gold from abroad, than to sell the bonds at home.

Thus one failure of the administration will be used to prove that another failure is the best thing for the people.

Another very evident consequence of the way in which this loan was made is that there will have to be another loan within three months, unless in the meantime Congress passes the tariff bill, or some other bill increasing the revenue of the government. Mr. Cleveland's administration has a whole year to run yet; so the chances are that there may be, not only one, but two or three, more issues of bonds always provided, of course, that the Populists and Democrats in the United States Senate insist on keeping the revenue of the government below its expenditure.

If the silver men in the Senate have the intelligence with which they have been credited with in the West, they will soon see that the best way to make the tariff the supreme issue in next fall's campaign is to prevent the passage of any bill now. If they pass a tariff bill now, and take that subject off the carpet, there will be a good chance of making the issue of bimetallism supreme in the campaign; if they insist on hanging up the tariff bill now, the need of more revenue will be so plainly apparent to the dullest understanding by next fall that the supreme issue will be protection and revenue, and silver will have to take a back seat.

MONROE'S LANGUAGE GOOD ENOUGH.

The Davis resolutions on the Monroe doctrine are still before the United States Senate, and occasional speeches are made on them. The resolutions submitted by Senator Sewell are also before the Senate, and Sewell's colleague, James Smith, Jr., made a speech on them a day or two ago. We think Smith is right on one point—that it will be much better for Congress to say nothing more about the Monroe doctrine at all than to pass either of these sets of resolutions.

The Sewell resolutions do not express the sentiment of the American people. If they had been adopted, Lord Salisbury never would have come down.

The Davis resolutions are unnecessarily explicit, and they are positively ridiculous in form. Either of these objections ought to be fatal to them. There is no use of particularizing all the cases in which we think the Monroe doctrine does, or possibly at some future day may, apply. It weakens a great principle to undertake to make a particular application of it in advance of the necessity of that application. Now that Great Britain has come down, there is no need of rubbing it in. Things are going well enough.

Still more serious, it seems to us, is the ridiculous nature of the language of the resolutions. Instead of stating the American doctrine in stronger terms than were used by President Monroe, which is their purpose, they weaken the doctrine to the vanishing-point. They say that we shall not regard with indifference anything which we deem injurious to our peace and safety. That is to say, if any gentleman pulls our nose, we shall not thank him for it; if anybody affronts us, we shall be affronted; if anybody insults us, we shall feel insulted; if any danger threatens us, we shall consider it dangerous. The efforts of Mr. Davis to improve upon the language of John Quincy Adams are really laughable. The world has progressed a good deal in many respects during the last 70 years; but in the art of writing good English, and in the art of putting political principles in a comprehensive form, there has hardly been much advance since the days of Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison, Jay and Adams.

If the Foreign Relations committee of the Senate cannot draft a measure which will be dignified, it had better either drop the subject, or, what would be better still, simply reaaffirm the language adopted by President Monroe in his famous proclamation.

Major Hilton is much impressed with the attractiveness and evident prosperity of Colorado Springs. One thing which he has particularly commented upon is the large number of bicycles. He states that not even Washington with its hundred miles of smooth paved streets can come up to this city in the matter of wheeling. It may be that before the Major leaves here even he may forsake the straight and narrow way, and essay the wobbling path that so often leads to destruction.

The place where General Linares is said to have caught Gomez and Maceo, both going and coming, is significantly "Lomas del Porvenir," which being interpreted is, "Hills of the Future." When the Spaniards go catch the rebel leaders that is just where it is likely to be.

When anything gets to the ridiculous stage in America, it is generally doomed. Prize-fighting has got there, and we think it is doomed. This last fiasco will do more to end the so-called "sport" on account of the ridiculous features of it than on account of the action of the State authorities and the national legislature.

Nansen's Expedition.

Dr. Fridjof Nansen started on his expedition June 24, 1893, in the Fram, a small steamer, fitted to endure the dangers of the Arctic seas. He designed to drift with the current from the Norway [illegible] to take him across the pole. His idea was that he would be obliged then to keep on to the eastward, across the Arctic sea, coming out somewhere north of Siberia. This would carry him through the Kara sea to the islands off Siberia, and possibly beyond the limits of Russia and across North America to the region of Greenland. Virtually he would have gone neither eastward nor westward, but directly northward to the pole, across it, and then southward toward the point reached by Arctic explorers; or possibly he might pass Greenland on the north and come out by Spitzbergen. There is nothing in the news of to-day to indicate whether he has found his theory of a continuous current to be correct, or has turned back to Norway.

The news which has come [illegible] from Dr. Nansen, from time to time, has always been open to doubt of its authenticity, and the present report may not be based on actual facts. Nothing can positively be known until Dr. Nansen himself, one of the most earnest and honest men in the world, shall arrive home to tell his story.

His comrades in this perilous experiment were Captain Otto Sverdrup, ship's master; Sigurd Scott Hansen, lieutenant in the Norwegian navy and director of the astronomical, meteorological and magnetic observations; Hendrik Blessing, surgeon and botanist; Theodore C. Jacobsen, mate; Peder Hendriksen, harpooner; Anton Amudsen, chief engineer; Lars Petersen, second engineer; H. Jalmar Johannesen, officer in the Norwegian navy, fireman; Bernard Nordahl, electrician; Ivan Mogstad, carpenter, and Adolf Juell, steward.

As to the conditions of the expedition, the following description, printed in a Christiana newspaper, is worth noting:

"Bread is the principal nourishment of Nansen and his people. The bread is a kind of biscuit, large and round, white and very compact. The ration of each man is to consist of four biscuits a day. This, at least, was given out when the expedition left Norway.

"Silk is used as the most suitable material for tents, as it shuts out the cold better than anything else.

"The cabin of Nansen's ship, the Fram, (meaning forward), is heated by means of an English petroleum stove, which consumes three litres of petroleum per day. As the explorer has taken along with him a sufficient supply of this fuel to last him eight or nine years there will be no lack of heating material.

"The library of the expedition consists of 1000 books, half of which are scientific works and the other half novels, poetry, etc.

"The crew numbers 12 men, and all occupy the cabin, which measures only 13 feet square. There they dwell, eat and work. The suits they wear cannot be penetrated by water."

The pole is, of course, at latitude 90 degrees, and the highest latitude previously reached is 83 degrees 23 minutes, accomplished by Lieutenant Peary in 1893.—(The Mail and Express.

Teller Not a Flirt.

How would Mr. Teller have looked putting a free coinage rider on the bill to prevent prize fighting? But he did not, because it would have been a senseless, illogical policy. The pension bill carrying over a hundred millions was passed by the Senate after ten minutes of discussion—why didn't he try to place a free coinage rider on it? Yet it would have been as much in place for him to have done this as to have stood in the road with his arms stretched across and said, "No silver, no tariff," which the Denver Republican represents him as doing. The explanation of the matter, in the telegraphic report to-day, says he did not do this that he has not attempted to obstruct protective tariffs at all; that according to his view the present bond bill is a political and not a Republican measure. In fact, Mr. Teller's attitude is very, very far from that represented in the Denver Republican, and reflected (after three days to think it over) by The Times. Mr. Teller has been consistent according to his view, while the two papers mentioned attempt to make it appear that the Republican party of Colorado is as inconsistent as a 16-year-old flirt.—(Pueblo Chieftain.

Not in It with Football.

A college professor, who is acting as war correspondent in Cuba, speaks discouragingly of the excitement of modern warfare. He assures his readers that a battle between the Cubans and Spaniards cannot compare with the excitement of an ordinary college football match. He should have thought of that, before betaking himself, his goods and chattels to the island of war. Since in a battle the men are some distance apart, and with only the object of putting a small ball through his opponent, it could hardly be expected that the professor could enthuse as would be over a contest in which man meets man face to face. A real battle could hardly be regarded as a sure cure for the ennui of a university professor.—(Leadville Herald.

International Arbitration.

There is something fascinating in the idea of international arbitration to certain men; and this may account for the many expressions in favor of establishing a tribunal to settle in that way all disputes between this country and England that may prove too difficult for diplomacy. But sober second thought is better, and it suggests that the interests of the United States do not lie in the direction of very close connection with England. Of course war is not a thing to be advocated, but it would be well for this country to avoid tying its hands in a way that would prevent it from resorting to measures that might be essential to its complete economic independence.—(Denver Republican.

New Buildings in Cripple.

During the past week contracts have been let for nearly $20,000 worth of buildings to be constructed along Bennett avenue. This includes the addition to the Palace hotel, the new National hotel at the corner of Fourth and Bennett, the Globe Shoe and Clothing company's new [illegible], and several other business houses of less note. A half dozen new business houses are also in course of construction on Myers avenue and they are all of the substantial kind, being of brick and stone. This goes to show the faith in the permanency of the district.—(Cripple Creek Times.

Salida Wants to Sink Deeper.

The West Creek boom is unabated—towns are being built and the rush of people still continues, yet not a ten of ore has been shipped and their "mines" so far are little more than prospect holes. Salida's showing in assay returns is equally as good and her advantages for development are far ahead of it. There is no cause for discouragement. Just sink deeper and as fast as you can.—(Salida Mail.

Biting Off One's Nose.

Our motto is protection and bimetallism. We wouldn't advise defeating protection out of spite because we can't get both. A half loaf is better than no bread. It is poor policy to bite off one's nose to spite his face.—(Monte Vista Graphic.

The "Cattle Standard."

A big boom in the cattle business is one of the things sure to come in the near future, and in anticipation of the same cattle are now considered as good as gold.—(Meeker Herald.

Could Almost Afford to Keep Cleveland.

It may appear like a wild statement, but there are many well-informed persons who believe that within five years Colorado will be producing $100,000,000 in gold annually.—(Boulder News.

Cripple Creek Anchors Are Good.

Should silver go up to 85 cents an ounce by April, as Senator Teller predicted, Colorado is liable to fly adrift, if something doesn't happen to hold it down.—(Alamosa Journal.

[illegible] Springs faithful legislators of Colorado, he could not well be spared.—(Cripple Creek Times.

HAVANA FILLERS.

Spain should be a little careful how she kills people from Cuba. She is likely to [illegible] herself pretty soon.—Chicago Post.

THE HIGH SCHOOL CLUB CONCERT.

The Prize Songs Were Effectively Rendered.

HURRAH FOR BROWN AND WHITE.

Mrs. A. S. Bale Secured the First Prize and Miss Lois Stoddard the Second—Other Numbers were Satisfactorily Rendered.

The concert given at the High School auditorium last evening by the High School Cadet Glee club, assisted by the Girls' Glee club, the Philomela club, the Boys' Harmony club, and by Mr. Frederic Howard, Mr. George Szag, Mrs. Lewis Searing, and Miss Blanche Crafts, was the greatest musical success ever yet scored by a school glee club.

The Cadet Glee club shows a fine quality of voice, great power, good expression, fair shading, and is altogether highly satisfactory, from a musical point of view. The other clubs did well, too, and it is evident that music does not suffer in the school curriculum.

The great attractions of the programme, for those interested especially in school affairs, were the two prize songs, which were selected nearly two months ago, but which have been kept as secret as possible ever since. The first is to the well-known air of "Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching." The words are catchy, and the song will be popular for many a year. The second is a real poem, and the air to which it goes, although not so familiar as the other, is beautiful in itself. It will become a standard song. The words of both are given below.

The First Prize Song.

C. S. H. S. is our cry,
Brown and White our banners fly,
And our colors are a copy of the west;
See the Peak against the sky,
Brown and bare it towers high,
And how white the snow that covers up its crest.

Chorus—
White and Brown the banner o'er us,
Brown and White our cry shall be,
We will stand for truth and right,
We will keep our honor bright,
And we'll always fight for truth and liberty.

Do you see our lovely girls
With their dimples, smiles and curls?
Can you find a school so handsome anywhere?
They can ride a "bike," or skate,
Calculate, or conjugate,
And we equal toil and equal honors share.

Chorus.

Do you see our boys in blue?
We are soldiers brave and true,
We were never, never known to feel a fear,
We could soon the Turks outdo,
And could free the Cubans, too,
If someone would kindly bring them over here.

Chorus.

You may search the country o'er,
North and south, from shore to shore,
You may visit England, Scotland, France or Spain,
Other schools may tower high,
But we're nearer to the sky
With our C. S. H. S., beauty, brawn and brain.

Chorus after last verse:
White and Brown the banner o'er us,
Brown and White our cry shall be,
We will battle for the best,
In the wild and woolly West,
In this great and glorious country of the free.

Second Prize Song.

O, colors lying fondly
Upon each loyal breast,
Their folds of light and shadow
With all our love addressed;
And wrapping close within them
The hopes which have been born
Among their eager legemen,
And vassals sworn.

Chorus—
All hail! ye flying pennons,
Our cheers we joy to raise!
Oh! wave and fly and float so light,
And keep for aye that honor bright,
So dear thou art to every sight!
Hurrah! the Brown and White,
For, loyal to our colors,
We'll keep their glorious praise.

As marshalled with all gladness
Beneath them floating wide,
We press to bathe in glory
The emblem of our pride,
And jealous of its honor,
We'll keep the White unstained,
And add more fame to praises
Already gained.

Chorus.

All homage be thine ever,
Our cherished Brown and White;
Our beating hearts stir with thee,
And flutter with delight;
In thee we stand as victors
On many hard fought fields,
And glow with all the triumph
Which mastery yields.

Chorus.

But there was a great deal to the concert besides the singing of the two prize songs, as will be seen from the following:

The Cadet Glee Club.

The officers and members of the Cadet Glee Club are as follows:

Clyde C. Spicer, president; Robert M. Reid, director; Anson B. Spinney, business manager. Tenors—Mr. C. W. Dasvis, Will T. Spicer, Jay E. Walker, Clyde C. Spicer, Pierce T. Barker, Frank B. Stone, Bassos—Mr. E. R. Clark, Anson B. Spinney, Roy C. Gowdy, Frank Allen, Meade A. Thomas, Fred. Klemedson, Joe Kirby, R. Guy Humphrey, George E. Lengel.

The stage decorations were the most beautiful that have ever been seen in the room. Two very large American flags were draped in front, with a brown and white pennon between them, and at the back, guns and swords were tastefully disposed, while at the sides there were plants and flowers, and in front of the stage was a pretty arrangement of three swords and a buckle. These decorations cost the boys some hard work, but they were resolved that everything should be in ship-shape order, and it was.

Some Good Music.

The most notable thing about the concert as a whole was the very high character of all the music. The rendering of such music cannot help but have a good effect on the taste of those who hear it.

Of the soloists, it is difficult to speak, because all did so well, and all were encored. Mr. Howard deserves the thanks of all who were present for coming at all, for he has been unwell for some days, and hardly felt equal to singing; but when he got on the stage, he sang as well as ever, and the audience were enthusiastic in their appreciation of his selections. After the first two airs, the applause was so great that he had to respond to an encore, and inspired by the decorations of the stage, he sank the "Two Grenadiers," of Schumann, splendidly.

Miss Crafts has not been well either, and it showed in her face, but not in her playing. She also had to respond to an encore, and played a pretty Berceuse, by Hauser, after her regular number. The violin she used is a genuine Cremona belonging to Prof. Szag, worth over $2,000, and the tone of it is exquisite.

Mrs. Searing played in a way to arouse the enthusiasm of the audience. Her runs were especially noticeable for the clear-cut precision and perfect evenness of the execution. She also was encored.

The Prizewinners.

Of the two prize songs, the first was written by Mrs. Alba Snow Bale of this city, and the second by Miss Lois Stoddard of the High school. The judges were unanimous in their award as to both songs. The award was made, of course, while the judges were entirely ignorant of the authors of any of the songs submitted. Prof. Parsons, in behalf of the judges, made the announcement of the prizes at the proper time.

DISTRICT COURT.

A Few Criminals Sent Over the Road in the First Division.

Yesterday Judge Harris sentenced a number of prisoners who have been convicted of crimes lately. The criminal work for this term is almost completed, only one more case being on the docket.

A man named Crystal plead guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. He secured money through a worthless check.

In the case of the People vs. Charles May, convicted of obtaining goods from M. Kirschner by false pretenses, May was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary.

Ed Cooper, who was convicted of being one of the men who held up and robbed Lem Gammon's store at Ramah last October, was sentenced to seven years. Cooper is an old Denver crook.

Buster Marshall, a colored boy, who burglarized a store last fall, was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary.

Tom Melville, who plead guilty of forgery, was sentenced to two years.

In the second division the adverse suit of Hughes vs. McRay is still on trial, and will take a day or more yet.

The suit of the Black Joe Mining company vs. Fletcher was dismissed by stipulation.

PROGRESS OF REVIVAL.

Singing Will Be Left after Be Made a Special Feature.

Major Hilton conducted another meeting in the Open Stock exchange yesterday morning. The room was again filled with business men, who gave earnest attention to the exercises. Mr. Grant C. Tullar, who for a number of years has worked with Major Hilton, arrived in the city just in time to reach the meeting, and his singing was an enjoyable feature. Major Hilton's topic was "The Way to Walk," and spoke of the choice of paths, companionship and association. The talk seemed very effective and on the way out one man was heard to say: "I've always been too busy to consider spiritual things. I've never had time, but hereafter I'm going to take time."

Mr. Tullar took charge of the singing at the evening meeting and sang two very affecting solos, one entitled "Life's Railroad to Heaven," and the other "My Mother's Hands." The singing will hereafter be made a special feature of the meetings, and Mr. Tullar is very desirous of meeting all the members of the chorus or any others who are willing to join the chorus, at the Baptist church this afternoon at the close of the Bible reading.

The subject of Major Hilton's discourse was "Trust." The Major's voice was somewhat the worse for wear, but he was able to speak as usual, and seems to have absolute "trust" that his vocal powers will stand the strain put upon them, even at this altitude.

The interest and spirit of the meeting seemed such that there was no formal dismissal, the latter part of the meeting being very informal and the congregation dispersed very gradually.

A peculiar fact ascertained in response to an inquiry was that 99 out of a hundred of the congregation were professed Christians. Major Hilton desires that Christians should make a special effort [illegible] greetings those who are not.

A feature of the work next week will be morning home prayer meetings. Twenty-two twenty-five places have already been secured where prayer meetings will be held every morning at 10:30. The meetings for to-day are as follows: College chapel 9:15 in Coburn Library, everyone invited; 2:30 devotional meeting; 3 o'clock Bible reading; 4 o'clock chorus rehearsal; 7 o'clock, workers meeting [illegible] meeting. All the afternoon and evening meetings are to be in the First Baptist church.

LAID AT REST.

Ex-Senator McGovney's Funeral Held Yesterday.

At 10:30 yesterday morning the last sad rites over the remains of ex-Senator Alvan A. McVoyney were conducted at his late home, 510 North Nevada avenue. There was a large attendance of friends and citizens who wished to do honor to his memory. The services were brief, but impressive. Dr. James B. Gregg, D. D., who had known the deceased many years, and was familiar with his rare qualities, conducted the services. His remarks were fitting and as fully as human words could be told of the man, nature and works of the dead man.

There were many beautiful floral offerings, among them a piece representing "The Gates Ajar," which came from the employes of the Rapid Transit company. The pall bearers were selected from among the oldest friends and business associates of the dead man, and were as follows: J. M. Ellison, George W. Woodward, T. S. Bigham, J. C. Brinkerhoff, Milo Rowell, M. T. Hale, Matt France, Patrick Burk.

During the morning both divisions of the District Court adjourned out of respect to the deceased. The Rapid Transit cars were draped in black.

The Austrian Minister.

Last evening a [illegible] arrived at The Antlers in the person of Baron Hengelmuller von Hengervar, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from the government of Austria to the United States. The minister is accompanied by his wife and they are traveling in the private car of the president of the Illinois Central road. They are accompanied by only a few servants. The baron registered at The Antlers and will remain for a day or two enjoying the scenery and will then go on to the west, as they are en route to California.

The minister is a fine looking man, about 45 years of age and last evening was dressed in a substantial business suit, and light red tie. The baroness is much younger and a very pretty woman. They are taking their first real look at this country although they have been at Washington several years. At the next diplomatic dinner the ambassador will be able to tell the president and his cabinet the wonders of America, which they have never seen.

A Relay Race.

To-morrow afternoon the Pike's Peak Roadsters will have a relay race over the Mesa. It is the race which was postponed last Thanksgiving Day. The start will be made at 3 o'clock from the front of the club rooms, on Huerfano street. The route will be up Nevada avenue to Williamette, across to Cascade and over the Mesa road, returning by Colorado City and Colorado avenue to the place of starting. Tom Vaux will captain one side and J. P. Davis the other. Last evening they selected their riders as follows:

Vaux men—Carl Albin, Carl Wright, Art. Blake, A. McCurdy, C. Wells, John Duncan, Fred Lingal, Jim Long, Clyde Sergant, Will Martin, Tom Vaux.

Davis men—Charles Wilson, Bert Bickford, Lou Wahl, Charles Taylor, A. Malloy, L. A. Pease, Al Wyatt, John Corson, Rob Osborn, Jim Lee, J. P. Davis.

If the evening the riders will have a supper at the club Coffee House to celebrate the victory.

Joseph H. Wolfe of Gillett, famous as the manager of the only American bull fight, is a guest at The Antlers.

Officer Agard sold the most tickets for the policemen's ball and gets the first prize. Horace Shelby was second and John Henry third.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Ehrich gave a very pleasant reception last evening at their beautiful home, 109 North Cascade avenue, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. W. Austin Pratt. Many of the members of All Souls' Church and friends of the society gathered to meet and welcome the new pastor and his wife.

Early in the fall Stratton and Carruthers sold two wheels to a couple of young fellows on the installment plan. In a short time they skipped out with the wheels. They have been found in Kansas City and the wheels recovered, or the money due on them.

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, Feb. 20.—The market was both active and firm this morning but there was no especial feature to the trading, there being all round heavy sales. Hayden was again one of the most prominent sellers with an even 20,000 shares to its credit. The price ranged from 8¼ to 8½, the bulk of it going at the higher figure. Argentum was perhaps the strongest stock on the list selling in good sized blocks at from 63½, at which it started, to 64½ at which it was strong at the close of the call. Isabella was again in good shape though the stamped stock continues to hang about 3 cents behind the regular kind in price. The latter went at from 53 to 53½, and appeared to be in very good demand at those figures. Union was off color being inactive in comparison with the past few days and sold from 58 down to 56¾. Consolidated also was weaker and declined from 21 down to 19½, at which it was selling at the close. Portland and Golden Fleece were both light sellers, the first named being in good shape at $1.73 and $1.74 and Golden Fleece at from $1.60 to $1.62. Pharmacist continued to decline though to no great extent. Work was almost dead with only 100 sales at 18½. Creede and C. C. was a heavy seller, being credited with 24,500 sales, all of which were made at 1¾.

Notice.

Contrary to the report published in the afternoon papers of this city and Denver there was a call at the "old exchange" yesterday at which over 400,000 shares changed hands. The call was postponed half an hour to allow the members to attend the funeral services of the late ex-Senator A. A. McGorney.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

A Pithy Article that Has Been Appearing in Eastern Papers.

The following article concerning Cripple Creek is from the pen of Mr. W. C. Edwards of Grafton & Edwards, and has appeared in the New York Financier, the Chicago Investor, Financial Bulletin and several other papers:

"The Cripple Creek district is not a peculiarly new one, though its productive history began in 1891, when it received its characteristically western name. Its area it is not an extensive district, being not more than six miles in one direction by four in another, but the gold production of this area in 1891 was $200,000; in 1892, $600,000; in 1893, $2,000,000; in 1894, $3,500,000, and in the last three months of 1895, there was a monthly production averaging nearly $1,000,000, and aggregating for the year at least $3,000,000. These figures are official, as every mill, smelter, or other purchaser of ore is obliged in law to keep a record showing the number of tons of ore received, and the mine, county and state from which it comes. Prior to 1891 it was known that there was some gold there, but practical, as well as expert mining men, could not be convinced that it existed in paying quantities. It remained for the sanguinary and visionary prospector to demonstrate the real value of the east slope of the Rocky Mountains. This reaction is due largely to force of circumstances.

"When the tremendous decline in the value of silver came in June, 1892, by reason of the closing of the Indian mints to coinage on private accounts, that blow, coupled with the panic which followed, fell upon Colorado with crushing force.

"Except a few which had large and enormously rich bodies of ore, all the silver mines were suddenly closed, and miners were thrown out of employment by the hundreds. In despair, the more philosophical of the miners turned towards the gold districts, with no great degree of confidence in bettering their condition, but believing that in them was their only salvation. The result of this courage and effort was that Colorado recovered from the effects of the panic more quickly and fully than many other of the States, and is to-day in as prosperous a condition as is any State in the Union. Cripple Creek alone has not produced this result; other parts of the State have contributed their share to the general good, notably the San Juan region, where many fine gold mines have been opened, but Cripple Creek stands pre-eminent in importance. The Cripple Creek district, however, did not begin to acquire its now great fame until late last summer. It was then that it began to boom.

"The incorporation of stock companies then became an almost daily occurrence, and the people of Colorado began speculating and investing in these stocks. The market for months has had an upward tendency, everybody, speaking in general terms, made money rapidly and in big ratios to their investments. The fever got beyond the borders of the State, money has come into the market, both from the East and abroad, not to buy mines, but to buy stocks.

"But there has been no such speculation in Colorado history as has occurred in the Kaffir securities in London, where the 'Barnato Banks, Mines and Estate Company, Limited,' the par value of which was something like £625,000, without any statement of what property the company possessed, or what its objects were, closed the first day it was put on the market with a quoted valuation something like £2,750,000 or $17,750,000. This amount of money would probably buy every share of every Cripple Creek company at present known in the Colorado market. The market value of all the Kaffir securities in the London market at the close of September last was $1,076,863,120. Such stupendous valuations are simply staggering; no ordinary mind can comprehend the immensity of such a sum of money. With that amount, the entire State of Colorado could be purchased with all her wealth of agriculture, precious metal mines, untold millions of tons of iron ores and coal area more than double the State of Pennsylvania, with all the railroads, factories and smelters; and when all were purchased there would still remain a comfortable reserve for carrying on the business of so rich a commonwealth.

"Cripple Creek mines are not, therefore, by any means extra hazardous; on the contrary, few, if any, losses have so far been sustained; in many instances they have paid the investor from 100 to 500 per cent. profit in a single year. One instance in point: On the first of January, 1895, Anchoria-Leland was worth ten cents a share; it is worth at least three dollars per share to-day.

"The facilities of Colorado for treating and smelting this amount of ore at present being taxed to their utmost and smelting charges have been increased in consequence. The two railroads now built into the Cripple Creek district are heavily taxed to handle this traffic, and two more railroads are proposed to be built by Colorado money. This shows the faith at home in these new gold mines, their richness and permanency."

THE SPRINGS VERSUS DENVER.

What "The Gold Bug" Thinks of the Two Places as a Mining Center.

The "Gold Bug" article of the New York Recorder contains the following: Colorado Springs is fast coming to be recognized as the mining center of Colorado, even if that distinction has not hitherto been conceded. There is more talk about Denver, because the residents of that city are never backward when discussing its claims, and the patriotism of the local press is acute. More big mining deals are said to be negotiated in Colorado Springs than in Denver. Dealings in mining shares in Colorado Springs do not always figure out so well on paper as in Denver, but it is claimed that the number of sales actually made, and the amount of money that changes hands in these transactions, in the former city, far exceeds the business done in Denver. These claims are probably true.

The supremacy of Colorado Springs in Colorado mining affairs is to be accounted for in many ways. Some of the heaviest mining operators in the State, like Hagerman, chose Colorado Springs as a place of residence. The city has for many years been noted as a health resort and popular with tourists. A large class of foreigners, who made investments in Colorado, other than mining, also chose that place as headquarters. This was done at a time when stock-growing was so alluring as to probable profits, and popular with rich young men, especially Englishmen. In a social way Colorado Springs has many attractions. With the decline of the live stock business, the Leadville excitement brought many more of the same class of people to Colorado Springs, and each subsequent mining boom in the State added to the population of the city. The transients, numbered by thousands, helped to advertise Colorado Springs, and it is well and favorably known, not only in the United States, but all over the world, and by moneyed and influential people.

When the Cripple Creek boom started, the mining exchanges of Colorado Springs—that had been doing little business—prepared for active and extensive trading. The local market for mining shares was especially good for men of wealth enough the fever and put in money both as investments and speculations. Trading was lively and profitable. But the brokers appreciated a necessity for a broader market, and extended their field of operations. In order to attain that object, concessions had to be made by the brokers as to the management of the exchanges. The result has been that to-day in the leading institutions the principal committees are under the control of bankers or their representatives. This gives the exchanges a better standing, and the listed stocks practically have the indorsement of banking institutions. Before such a state of affairs could be brought about, strict rules were adopted and have been observed as regards the listing of stocks. The Colorado Springs share market is less fluctuating than that of Denver. One explanation for this is that the brokers and investors of Colorado Springs are not so loaded down with stocks as those in Denver; the former selling in the East and elsewhere, being content with a moderate profit. Rallies like those of frequent occurrence on the exchanges in Denver are infrequent or unknown in Colorado Springs.

In Thursday's issue of The Recorder, the Gold Bug explained the conditions in Denver. On Friday of last week a raid was made on the principal exchange of Denver that will serve as a sample of what is likely to happen again, for a similar experience has been frequently reported. Of this recent flurry the Denver News stated: "The main feature of the session was the grand sell-on Lincoln Boy, in which 222,000 shares changed hands. It occurred in the second call. None of the stock was offered on the first call, or during the free selling between calls, at less than Thursday's closing figure, 7 cents per share. At the final call, however, an offer of 100 shares at 6¾ drew attention. Then the fun set in, and between Randall for the company, and Kine in supposed opposition, the wind and twenty thousands changed places like loose paper in a Denver sand storm. When the movement was finished the net result was the gathering by outsiders of some 20,000 shares, at the paying quotation of 6¾. As the brokers who secured the stock had orders for it at 7 or less, this particular bear movement can hardly be chronicled as a brilliant success. An order for 20,000 shares, at current prices, is expected from New York city early next week."

In Colorado, outside of the exchanges of Colorado Springs, there is little stability as to prices of mining shares. The market reports of brokers in Denver and Cripple Creek differ greatly, and it is difficult to decide which to believe—if any of them. Statements of two of these stock circulars from Cripple Creek, dated Feb. 8, are wide apart. One begins: "The market for the past week or so has been in anything but a hopeful or satisfactory condition generally."

The other says: "A stronger tone and better prices have prevailed this week. * * * There is a decidedly better feeling here, as elsewhere."

It is to be hoped that the directors of the New York Mining Exchange will conclude to co-operate with the Colorado Springs Exchange and select only such stocks as have met the requirements of the listing committee of that exchange. Otherwise, it is better to list properties that have not been dealt with on the exchanges in Colorado.

The Dold Mining Company.

The Dold company owns three claims, patented, on the north slope of Carbonate hill, one and one-fourth miles from Cripple Creek, containing 27 acres. The claims are the Spring Gulch, Great Eastern and Mount Forest, on which $3,000 has been expended in development work. At present the Great Eastern is leased and bonded to W. N. Burgess & Co. of this city for 15 months; bond $20,000.

The company also owns a fraction on Ironclad hill, the Lonely Maid, and are at present sinking, the shaft being down 80 feet in a phonolite dyke; probably the same as in the Tenderfoot, which lies but little south. The ore at present is low grade, running from $3.75 to $4.40 per ton. The company has no debt. O. L. Benton, cashier of the Oberlin National bank, Oberlin, Kan., is president of the company, and C. B. Gunn of this city is secretary and treasurer.

For Sale.

Nine-tenths of the stock of one of the best undeveloped mining propositions in the Cripple Creek gold belt, for sale. This company owns four lode claims and one placer claim, all situated in the Cripple Creek porphyry belt. Inquire of M. Kinney, rooms G. and H., Exchange building, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The Work Meeting.

A meeting of the directors of the Work company was held yesterday afternoon at the company's office in the Hagerman block. The meeting was called to consider some proposition that had been made to purchase parts of the company's claims located on Gold and Raven hills. The propositions affected part of all the company's claims, and had the offers been accepted the total amount would have aggregated more than the entire capitalization of the company would bring were it sold at the present quotation, besides leaving a lot of valuable ground.

In spite of these facts the directors did not see fit to sell any of the property, although all seemed pleased with the offers made. It is evidently the policy of the company to work its own claims for a while as, although some good offers have been made, they are evidently not yet good enough to tempt the company to sell. The result of this meeting is most gratifying and convincing.

Mining properties bought for syndicates and individuals; management of properties a specialty.

GERALD M. KING,
P. O. Box 791, Cripple Creek.

Mines in the vicinity of Gillett are all looking very favorable and several of them are making regular shipments. Owing to this fact an extensive real estate boom has been projected and lots are being staked throughout the entire park. Of the mines in this locality which are showing up well, the ones most worthy of mention are the Lincoln, King of Diamonds, Three of a Kind and the Vanity Fair group. Development work on the Lincoln is being pushed with alacrity and regular shipments are being made. The present depth of the shaft is 75 feet. The King of Diamonds is being worked steadily and getting out some good ore, although the shaft is only 50 feet in depth. Located northwest of the Lincoln a few hundred feet is the Three of a Kind claim. A new shaft house has recently been erected on this property and the shaft is being sunk rapidly. The El Paso reduction works just outside of the city limits are being worked to their full capacity, the greater part of the ore coming from the Portland and Independence mines.

Lectured on Cripple Creek.

Prof. J. F. Kemp of Columbia College, who spent some time in Cripple Creek last summer, gave a lecture before the New York Academy of Sciences in Hamilton hall, Columbia College. His subject was "Cripple Creek Gold Mining District." The lecture was illustrated with a lantern slide showing the geography, character of the country, and the geology of the locality. Professor Kemp said in part: "It is my desire to speak in moderate language and to give a fair and conservative account of the camp so far as a few weeks' stay and visitation of the mines allowed me to form an opinion. It is interesting to note how the fall of silver stimulates gold mining in Colorado. Colorado is the leading silver State, although in 1887 Montana led her in both gold and silver. The shrinkage of the price in silver, therefore, pinched Colorado particularly, for up to within a year ago her mining was mainly for silver and lead. Interest in development in Colorado, therefore, lies along the line of gold, and Cripple Creek is the principle field. Nevertheless, elsewhere there have been great developments in the direction of mining the yellow metal. Recently vigorous excitement has sprung up near Hahn's Peak, in Routt county. Prospectors are busy in the region about Pike's Peak. Of all fields Cripple Creek is the most important, and while not a California or Australia or South Africa, it is really a serious factor in the Western problem of to-day.

Mining properties bought for syndicates and individuals, management of properties a specialty.

EASTERN MARKETS.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, Feb 20—Money on call has been easy at 3@4 per cent, last loan at 3 and closing offered at 3 Prime mercantile paper 6@7 per cent. Bar silver 67½. Mexican dollars 54¼. Sterling exchange dull with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 86¼@4 86½ for 60 days and $4 87½@4 87¾ for demand. Posted rates $4 87@4 88½. Commercial bills $4 86¼@4 86. Government bonds strong. State bonds steady. Railroad bonds higher. Silver at the board was firm.

Business at the stock exchange was more active today and a firm tone characterized the dealings from start to finish. The greatest activity was in the food department, however, and it is estimated that the investment demand for this class of securities was heavier to-day than at any time since the publication of President Cleveland's Venezuela message. Foreign houses were large buyers and brokers identified with firms that secured big blocks of the new 4s were also prominent as purchasers. The dealings in railway and miscellaneous bonds were on an enormous scale, and aggregated $3,253,000.

The improvement in prices and the buying for both foreign and domestic investment account is due to the successful placing of the new loan; the restoration of the treasury gold reserve, the ease with which betterments are being made the low rates for money, and finally to the strength of the new bonds which to-day sold up to 118.

Speculation closed strong, with prices all more from 1 to 1¾ per cent higher than yesterday's final figures. Total sales were 187,350 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Feb 20—The market for wheat during the morning hours of today's session displayed nothing that could be termed important or interesting. Business was extremely light, and the appearance of the trade gave the impression that both bulls and bears were awaiting something definite for or against values. The Cincinnati Price Current which came to hand before the opening gave no particular testimony as to conditions, but stated that the present unlooked-for weather would not likely cause any serious injury to the growing crop. Liverpool cables quoted an advance corresponding with ours of yesterday.

Corn—The inactive speculative trade in wheat was duplicated in corn. Prices were subjected to changes similar to those of the finer grain, but the movement was less pronounced. The Cincinnati Price Current reported a continuing interior movement of corn probable, and the trade showed aversion to buying for that reason.

THE LAKE GEORGE DISTRICT.

The Same Conditions as in Cripple Creek—Good Showing.

The Lake George and lower Tarryall districts are fast coming to the front as being well worthy of immediate and careful attention of the mining public. There has been in the general scouring over all the country lying contiguous to Cripple Creek considerable prospecting done but only the surface has been scratched, there being but few shafts over 10 feet deep anywhere. Still the results have been very good but how good are known to but a favored few.

The press has given short sketches of the large veins bearing porphyry dykes that are scattered through the Lake George district, speaking of them as immense low grade propositions which they undoubtedly are, and have published notices of strikes being made there and in Tarryall.

The district lies entirely within the government reservation and many of the best discoveries are also on State land, although many of them are on patented ground. Those having claims on government land have done their work, surveyed and recorded them and kept quiet waiting for the reservation to be opened for mineral entries or at least until Congress should meet and take some action upon the question. Those on State lands have been quietly arranging with the board of land commissioners to have the land surveyed and platted for leasing. Those having discoveries on patented land have also claims involved as above.

Much of the ore from that section is a copper pyrite, in numerous instances showing native copper and carrying from $10 to $20 in gold per ton. Gold is also found in some places. It is said that Dufreschun and Church have lately secured the aid of some Chicago parties with plenty of capital to assist in developing their properties. The representatives of the Chicago people are on the ground, and it would seem that they have confidence in their claims and the locality as they have purchased a building site at Lake George and are to begin at once the erection of a substantial residence.

The placer ground is generally considered to contain good values although it has never been worked to any extent. The country is easy of access, Lake George being a flag station on the Colorado Midland railway, about 40 miles from Colorado Springs and Tarryall only a few miles northwest of that point. The mountains are low and comparatively smooth being similar in fact, to those surrounding Cripple Creek, and the formation at least in certain parts of the district, is very similar. On the authority of no less a person than Mr T B Buchanan of Denver there is porphyry in the Lake George district identically the same as the porphyry of Raven Hill, Cripple Creek.

An important strike has been made in the Jolly Tar mine located on the south slope of Battle mountain and within the city limits of Victor. The property has been developed by a shaft 220 feet in depth. At the 135 foot level in an eight foot drift a fine vein of sylvanite ore ranging in width from 18 to 24 inches was struck this afternoon. Running through this mine from north to south is a phonolite dyke on side of which is a streak of ore about eighteen inches wide which returns values on assays ranging from $15 to $35. Between the phonolite and new vein discovered this afternoon lies a vein discovered less a black rock which a water course and contains lime in solid strata. Manager Culp has put a force of men to work on the south end of the chain about 140 feet from the main workings and 250 feet distant from the Strong mine shaft. He will also sink shafts in four different places on the Jefferson vein adjoining the Jolly Tar, in order to follow the vein struck to-day. This vein is very rich in sylvanite and is more than probable that a big ore chimney is about to be encountered.

The management of the Blue Jay Mining company was disturbed yesterday by the published report that the Murray and Andrews extension claims in the Cripple Creek district had been purchased by the Blue Jay company. Negotiations were in progress at one time for the purchase, but it was stated yesterday that the deal was not consummated and the Louisiana claim was purchased and added to the properties owned by the company. The Louisiana was the last claim purchased by the Blue Jay company.

Weather Indications.

Washington, Feb. 20.—For Friday—Fair weather; variable winds.

Mr. Justus O. Woods left last evening for New York, via the Rock Island road.

Grant C. Tullar of Chicago, Maj Hilton's musical assistant, is staying at the Alta Vista.

Mrs. Will J. Matthews has returned from a trip to Peabody, Kan., where she was called by the death of her sister.

The Progress club will meet with Mrs. Burr, 213 East Willamette avenue, Friday, Feb. 21, at 3:30 p. m.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Robert L. M. Frisser and Miss Laura Meal, both of Manitou.

People who do not believe that this is a fine Italian climate should look at their trees. They have begun to bud in the middle of February.

A cash offer of $[illegible] for 50 feet of ground on Tejon street, between Huerfano and Cucharas was made in the last few days.

E. K. Allison and G. W. Bolds of Decatur, Ind., are the guests of E. C. Sheldon, 602 North Corona. They will go to Cripple Creek to look up some investments before returning East.

H. B. Cuffin, a large paper manufacturer of Windsor Locks, Conn., who with his wife has been spending some weeks at the Alta Vista, has left for California.

The Pike's Peak Gun club has an invitation from the Pueblo Gun club to make a visit, and to-morrow about half a dozen members are going down to try their skill against the Pueblo marksmen.

There will be a meeting to-night at Mr. Fetterman's private rooms for the purpose of electing officers and directors of the Antlers Gold Mining and Tunneling company, a new company being organized.

All are cordially invited to attend the social of the Flower committee of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the First Lutheran church, at the residence of Mrs. C. Anderson, No. 512 East Platte avenue, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. William A. Welch, formerly of this city, and Miss Amanda B. Matthews, were married on February 15th, 1896, at Norfield, Miss. They will make their home at Norfield, where Mr. Welch has a position with a lumber company.

Mr. Grant C. Tullar, who is a very efficient chorus director of large experience, desires to have all those who are willing to take in the chorus at the evangelistic meetings, meet for rehearsal at the First Baptist church this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning the fire department was called to the residence of Henry Goss, at 118 Conejos street, where a fire was burning in the roof. A fine run was made and the blaze quickly extinguished. Fireman Conacher lost his keys while at work at the fire, and would like the finder to return them to him.

A horse belonging to W. R. Moore, who lives on the Mesa road, ran away on Tejon street yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. It was a most exciting runaway and as the streets were full of people and vehicles. One or more persons were knocked down but no one was seriously hurt. A window in a Huerfano street barber shop was broken.

The Colorado Springs Choral society are getting up a very interesting programme for the concert on Feb. 25. In addition to the words of the different pieces to be sung by the chorus, there will be a short account, written by Mr. Goldmark, of the character of the music of each composition. This is not usual in choral programmes, but will doubtless add much to the enjoyment of the music by the audience.

Yesterday afternoon T. A. McDonald, a traveling telegraph operator, tried to get on No. 9, of the D. & R. G. road, to steal a ride. He missed his jump and was thrown violently to the ground. His head struck a switch rail and he lay stunned and bleeding. A severe gash was cut in his head, and it was thought that he was badly injured. He was taken to the county hospital, where the county physician examined him, and announced that his injuries were not serious.

Mr. Frank Boyles has sold a half interest in his billiard hall on Tejon street to a Mr. Forrester of Cincinnati. They have begun some extensive improvements. The rear of the building is to be extended to the alley, giving them about 16 feet more room. The lunch counters are to be extended, the whole length of the north side of the room and the billiard [illegible] to be on the south side. The front of the building is also to be remodeled, and the entire place renovated.

A suit was filed in the District Court yesterday entitled Frank G. Peck vs. E. T. Peabody and others, for an accounting in the matter of the Nen-Moon Leasing company. Plaintiff sets up that he purchased a quarter interest in the lease a year or two ago and that he has put up money to work the claim, but that he has not had his share of the profits. The lessees have sold the lease back to the Gold and Globe company for a bonus of $2,000. He believes that he will not have his share of this unless the court compels them. He asks that the court enjoin the Gold and Globe company from paying over such money as it has in hand, and that the Pueblo Smelting company be restrained from turning over the proceeds of ores from the lease. Judge Lent made a temporary restraining order in the case, Judge Gunnell is plaintiff's attorney.

A New Directory.

The first of March the Gazette Printing company will commence to work collecting information for a new city directory. The last directory was issued two years ago, and was very complete and satisfactory. It is intended to make this one better than ever. The city is changing, and the population much increased, so that it is very essential that the work be done perfectly this year. It is hoped that the citizens will take interest in the matter and see that their names are in the book. Give the canvasser all the information when they call. Don't treat them as if they were book agents, or census takers. If the compilation is made as perfect as possible, and the company will spare no efforts in that direction, it will make a pretty good census. It will be four years yet before another general census, and a good many people would like to know how many people there are here right now. Help the canvassers.

A. D. CRAIGUE.

Yesterday was a good day for runaways. The afternoon performance was given by a horse owned by a builder at work on Dale street. The animal became frightened at the sight of a saw, broke away and started down town. A sharp turn demolished the light wagon, and the animal went down west of Cascade, turned into the avenue again by Dr. Anderson's and made a dash for Pike's Peak avenue, and then had the discrimination to select the alley for the run between Pike's Peak and Cucharas. The animal was finally stopped after its mile run, in front of the Kentucky livery stable on East Cucharas street. The wagon was completely demolished, and the harness badly damaged, but the horse escaped with only slight scratches, and no one was injured.
